

Eliza L. Andonova, JD

Eliza helps drug and device manufacturers navigate the complex health care fraud and abuse prohibitions related to their relationships with prescribers, payers, pharmacies, or patients. She works with manufacturers to evaluate risk and identify mitigation strategies for critical commercialization offerings so they can provide broad access to life-sustaining and life-improving treatments. Eliza focuses on compliance with federal and state anti-kickback and false claims laws, as well as transparency and marketing regulations. She advises manufacturers on the structure and implementation of patient and product support programs and services. She counsels clients on the design, implementation, and continued improvement of compliance programs.
