

Katie Jacyna

Katie is a cross-functional leader within HELIO, providing management consulting services and leading the product management team.

Her over 13-year career in Life Sciences has had her work closely with pharmaceutical and medical devices teams across the world – building efficient and strategic operations using the latest technology.

She is a foremost expert in HCP Engagements and grants management, having built global SaaS and custom solutions from pre-commercial to the industry's leading organizations.

Katie utilizes her depth of expertise to build solutions for life sciences which achieve the strategic, operational, and compliant needs of this industry