

Amanda Johnston, JD, R.A.C.

Amanda Johnston is a distinguished FDA attorney, specializing in advising medical device and pharmaceutical companies on FDA law, regulatory submissions, healthcare compliance, and fraud and abuse laws. With a rich background in in-house legal, regulatory, and compliance roles within the medical device industry, Amanda brings a profound understanding of business dynamics. Known for her approachable demeanor and unwavering dedication, Amanda is a sought-after legal advisor who seamlessly blends legal expertise with practical business acumen, providing tailored and actionable advice that propels businesses forward.