

Jason Macias

Jason Macias is a high-performing leader with over a decade of compliance experience developing and executing strategies that mitigate complex risks across global multi-billion-dollar businesses. Jason currently serves as the Head of Risk Assessment, Monitoring, Transparency, Global Trade Controls and Medical Compliance for Viartis, Inc., a global healthcare company. Jason previously served as Vice President supporting the Upjohn, legacy brands business at Pfizer Inc. In these roles, Jason has designed first in class compliance programs and consistently impacted business results and corporate culture. Prior to his role as a Compliance professional, Jason worked as a corporate attorney. Jason is a graduate of Cornell University and Rutgers University School of Law-Newark.