

Elaina McEwan

Elaina is a Senior Manager in the Life Sciences Consulting Group in the Litigation Department of Paul Hastings based in the firm's New York office. Elaina has over 15 years of life sciences industry experience assisting companies in mitigating evolving risk areas and maintaining compliance with industry regulations. She supports corporate compliance, legal counsel, and senior operations professionals on matters related to compliance program effectiveness, patient services compliance, sales and marketing compliance, government investigations, and medical/clinical operations. In addition to her consulting experience, Elaina has held in-house roles in sales and compliance for two global pharmaceutical companies.